 St. Augustine Area

A survey of the coast from Fort William near St. Juans River to Mosquito River, and a little beyond Little Fort and part of Anastasia Island. It includes an inset: A plan of the town and Fort of St. Augustine, 59 x 24.3 cms., which shows Gen. Oglethorp's camp, &c. Both maps show the roads &c. and are very interesting. NOTE: A reduced copy of this map is found in Archer Butler Hulbert's The crown collection, v. 5, nos. 38-39. The Library of Congress has in the Faden Collection, no. 43, a manuscript map entitled: " Map of the coast of Florida, from Talbot Island to the mouth of Musquitta River, with plan of St. Augustine, shewing the position of Gen. Oglethorpe's camp &c" The size answers to the Watson map and they are sufficiently alike for one to be considered as a copy of the other. It has no date or author, and water mark dates about 1735. It may be the original map from which Watson got his information. The scale is the same.
